Baptised at Holy Trinity Church, Shaftesbury, Dorset on 16 May 1919 – then living at West View, Bimport Shaftesbury. Shortly after the death of Maud Ball [ca 1924] John Ball remarried. Elder brother [John Stephen, born ca 1907] had already left home. Robert Ball was educated in Shaftesbury until the age of 14 [1933] when he was signed up for Boys Service with the King's Royal Rifles and was a member of Military Band – he had a natural gift to play by ear and could copy any tune. He completed his education on Boys Service and was awarded Second Class certificate in 1933 and First Class certificate in 1934. He was as initially sent to India, then based in Burma until 1938 when he was sent to Egypt as part of King's Royal Rifle. Remained in Egypt during WWII until about 1943 when he was part of military escort taking German prisoners to the USA. Details of the trip are patchy but he left Africa from Durban, the ship calling in Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and Trinidad before depositing prisoners in New York. He returned to UK in 1944 as part of convey crossing Atlantic and joined Palestine Police as constable, later promoted to sergeant [Foreign Office Exit Permit no 281994 valid for departure prior to 12 July 1944]. Offered second tour of duty but opted to join Bermuda Police Force in 1948, sailing on SS Bayano. [Fyffes Banana boat built 1915, scrapped 1956]. He settled in Bermuda and rose through colonial police ranks retiring as Chief Inspector in 1971. He returned to the UK in 1974, initially to Isle of Man, finally settling in Compton Dundon, Somerset. Awarded 7 medals: 5 military [General Service, 1339/45 Star, Africa Star 8th Army, Defence Medal, 139/35 War medal] and 2 colonial police [Queen's Colonial Police gallantry Medal [1965] and Meritorious Service].
