

DR. ZIAD MAJED (AUP)

« War crimes, crimes against humanity and territorial fragmentation: are peace and reconstruction possible in Syria? »

Ziad Majed, a Lebanese/French political scientist, is an associate professor of Middle East studies and International Affairs at the American University of Paris. His research focuses on Lebanon, Syria, Political transitions, Consociationalist systems and Political Islam. In 2007, he co-founded the Arab Network for the Study of Democracy.

Dr. Majed's latest publication: Syrie, La révolution orpheline (Syria, the Orphan Revolution), Paris, 2014. He also has two blogs: ziadmajed.blogspot.com (in Arabic) and vendredis-arabes.blogspot.com (French and English).

WEDNESDAY, 15 NOVEMBER 2017 - 5:00 TO 7:00 PM

Venue: Investcorp Auditorium, Middle East Centre, St Antony's College
68 Woodstock Road, OX26JF