SEESOX: THE FUTURE

SEESOX is looking forward, and taking a realistic view of the years ahead. The watchword remains integration; but the context, and the questions being asked, are different. The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.

PROGRAMMES AND NETWORKS

- The Global SEESOX project
  Connecting and interacting with the countries beyond Europe, and studying issues of migration, diaspora, new security challenges, rule of law, energy, and trade.

- The Political Economy of South East Europe examining political and economic developments in the regional, European and international contexts, and working in partnership with central banks and other banks in the region, including Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Greece, on banking, financial and investment issues.

- Country programmes promoting the understanding of countries’ histories, domestic politics and socio-economic transformations (including programmes on contemporary Greece, contemporary Turkey and academic visitor schemes). How do countries in South East Europe engage with the multipolar environment?

- The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.

- The Future
  SEESOX looks forward, and taking a realistic view of the years ahead. The watchword remains integration; but the context, and the questions being asked, are different. The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.

- The Global SEESOX project
  Connecting and interacting with the countries beyond Europe, and studying issues of migration, diaspora, new security challenges, rule of law, energy, and trade.

- The Political Economy of South East Europe examining political and economic developments in the regional, European and international contexts, and working in partnership with central banks and other banks in the region, including Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Greece, on banking, financial and investment issues.

- Country programmes promoting the understanding of countries’ histories, domestic politics and socio-economic transformations (including programmes on contemporary Greece, contemporary Turkey and academic visitor schemes). How do countries in South East Europe engage with the multipolar environment?

- The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.

THREATENED PRIORITIES

- The long-term dynamics of our collective memories, and identities and historical legacies affect the present and the future?

- Regional rapprochement and conflict resolution: How can divided communities shape common futures?

- How do collective memories, identities and historical legacies affect the present and the future?

- How can divided communities shape common futures?

ACTIVITIES

- Teaching and training: undergraduate, graduate and doctoral student supervision, seminars, lectures, workshops, debates, and focused research to open doors by facilitating and enriching dialogue; to identify the most topical and necessary areas for analysis and discussion; to engage with the best thinkers and ideas to build networks to exchange policy experience and influence practitioners; and to ensure that SEESOX fulfils its potential as a multi-disciplinary expert authority on the region as part of the European continent and the global environment.

- Seminars and conferences promoting debate, increasing awareness on relevant issues and contributing to a better understanding of regional specificities.

- Workshops and closed brainstorming meetings focused on topical themes and thinking outside the box.

- High profile keynote lectures delivered by eminent academics and politicians.

- Stimulating visiting fellowships and non-stipendiary academic visitors on a termly or yearly basis.

- Publications including books, occasional papers, workshop reports, and opinion pieces.

- The Global SEESOX project
  Connecting and interacting with the countries beyond Europe, and studying issues of migration, diaspora, new security challenges, rule of law, energy, and trade.

- The Political Economy of South East Europe examining political and economic developments in the regional, European and international contexts, and working in partnership with central banks and other banks in the region, including Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Greece, on banking, financial and investment issues.

- Country programmes promoting the understanding of countries’ histories, domestic politics and socio-economic transformations (including programmes on contemporary Greece, contemporary Turkey and academic visitor schemes). How do countries in South East Europe engage with the multipolar environment?

- The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.

- The Future
  SEESOX looks forward, and taking a realistic view of the years ahead. The watchword remains integration; but the context, and the questions being asked, are different. The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.

PROGRAMMES AND NETWORKS

- The Global SEESOX project
  Connecting and interacting with the countries beyond Europe, and studying issues of migration, diaspora, new security challenges, rule of law, energy, and trade.

- The Political Economy of South East Europe examining political and economic developments in the regional, European and international contexts, and working in partnership with central banks and other banks in the region, including Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Greece, on banking, financial and investment issues.

- Country programmes promoting the understanding of countries’ histories, domestic politics and socio-economic transformations (including programmes on contemporary Greece, contemporary Turkey and academic visitor schemes). How do countries in South East Europe engage with the multipolar environment?

- The Future
  SEESOX looks forward, and taking a realistic view of the years ahead. The watchword remains integration; but the context, and the questions being asked, are different. The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.

- The Global SEESOX project
  Connecting and interacting with the countries beyond Europe, and studying issues of migration, diaspora, new security challenges, rule of law, energy, and trade.

- The Political Economy of South East Europe examining political and economic developments in the regional, European and international contexts, and working in partnership with central banks and other banks in the region, including Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Greece, on banking, financial and investment issues.

- Country programmes promoting the understanding of countries’ histories, domestic politics and socio-economic transformations (including programmes on contemporary Greece, contemporary Turkey and academic visitor schemes). How do countries in South East Europe engage with the multipolar environment?

- The Future
  SEESOX looks forward, and taking a realistic view of the years ahead. The watchword remains integration; but the context, and the questions being asked, are different. The deep crisis within the Eurozone has changed the nature and balance of Europe, in a shifting global environment: indeed the continent has altered more rapidly than the region. The roads to integration have become more complex and challenging. SEESOX is determined to continue to contribute to the debate and to policy-making in an informed, positive and engaged manner; and to offer its expertise, commitment and drive.