Born 2 Feb 1931. Son of William Frederick Giesler, a champagne grower. Educated at King's College, Taunton, and Nautical College, Pangbourne. Spent National Service as a radio mechanic in the Royal Signals. Poor eyesight prevented a seagoing career and necessitated a change in career direction. Went into the film industry, joining the National Coal Board Film Unit as a trainee in Sept 1955. Went on to writing and directing training and safety films, one of which attracted the interest of the Kuwait Oil Company's consultants Film Centre. Sent to Kuwait in 1958 as writer and director of their film unit. Spent four years there making films for Kuwaiti audiences: explaining the activities of the oil company. The company ran an Arabic language school to encourage their non-Arab employees to learn courtesy Arabic. In addition to this undertook a further eighteen months studying classical Arabic in his spare time. Returned to the Gulf a number of times in subsequent years, filming in Qatar, Dubai and Oman. Married Pamela Wyard in Sept 1960. Two sons and five grandchildren. Retirement since 1991 spent researching family history, and as an oral history interviewer for the National Film & Television Archive, and the Imperial War Museum. Died in 2016.
