Biographical history: Stewart, William David (b.1926) Palestine Policeman

William 'Bill' Stewart was born in Bridge of Allan in 1928 and was educated at Hurst Grange Prep School in Stirling, and Fettes College in Edinburgh. Stewart served as a constable in the Palestine Police force from the 22nd of December 1946 until the 11th of May 1948. He was transferred from Safad to Farradiyah Police Post in March 1947. His work in the force was considered 'exemplary.' Bill married in 1950 and has three daughters. He lived in Bo'ness, Stirling, Dumfries and Henley on Thames. Finishing his working life in Henley on Thames as Europe Production Manager for Stelrad Steel Radiators, he retired back to Bo'ness in 1986 to be near to his daughters and granddaughters. Stewart held membership in the Palestine Police Old Comrades Association intermittently from its conception in 1947. Following a letter in 1988 from the General Secretary of the organization inquiring about re-joining, Stewart went on to hold membership until at least 2007. As part of his membership, Stewart attended events in 1998 and 2005, to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the end of the British Mandate in Palestine and the 25th anniversary of the Scottish branch of the Old Comrades association respectively.

Scope and content: Papers and audio-visual material relating to William Stewart's service in the Palestine Police including a policeman's notebook, a 1947 Christmas dinner menu and his 1949 certificate of discharge. The majority of documents relate to Stewart's membership and involvement with the Palestine Police Old Comrades Association, and material relating to reminiscing about his time in Palestine. These include a constitution pamphlet, certificates of membership and details of dinners in 1998 and 2005. Material relating to reminiscing about his service in Palestine include a list of some colleagues compiled in 1991 and two VHS cassettes of a Palestine Police recruitment film and the BBC documentary 'A Dream so Fair: The Palestine Police.'

System of arrangement:

1. Palestine Police Service
2. Palestine Police Old Comrades Association
3. Reminiscences
